

Emergency Action Plan Quiz

Workplace Safety > Emergency Action Plan Quiz > Question

1. An Emergency Action Plan (EAP) is designed to aid firefighters and other rescue personnel in case of emergencies.

- (A) True
- (B) False

2. As per OSHA guidelines, employers are required to maintain a written Emergency Action Plan (EAP) for ____ or more employees.

- (A) 5
- (B) 25
- (C) 11
- (D) 10

3. As a part of an EAP, which of the following is required in every organization to alert occupants of an evacuation?

- (A) Employee alarm system
- (B) Floor plan of the building
- (C) Draft of evacuation procedures
- (D) Training document

4. The company I work for has three worksites. I work on Site 2. Can I refer to the EAP of Site 1?

- (A) Yes
- (B) No

5. My friend guards the hazardous chemical storage unit in our facility. In case there is a fire, and we are required to evacuate, is he supposed to stay back to guard it?

- (A) Yes
- (B) No
- (C) Depends

6. A company should have at least _____ exit routes for proper evacuation during an emergency.

- (A) 1
- (B) 2
- (C) 4
- (D) Not required

7. It is NOT required for the EAP to include the following:

- (A) Rescue duties for employees
- (B) Contact persons' details for further information on the EAP
- (C) Emergency escape routes
- (D) Alternative communications centre

8. OSHA recommends one "evacuation warden" for every _____ employees.

- (A) 10
- (B) 50
- (C) 100
- (D) 20

9. The best way to educate employees about emergency evacuation and safety in the event of a fire is by _____.

- (A) Conducting periodic fire drills
- (B) Training employees
- (C) Making the fire prevention plan available to all employees
- (D) All of the above

When should the EAP be reviewed?

- (A) At the start of a financial year
- (B) Bi-annually
- (C) Whenever the plan is changed
- (D) Monthly